

The Right to Public Opinion & Resolution

“To establish within such an electronic system, a convenient and secure method for all voting-age to contribute one personal or group resolution toward a domestic concern of the country, including pending Bills and Resolutions sitting before both houses of Congress. Such resolutions will be subject to public scrutiny and competition with others at hand, ultimately decided upon by popular selection. The Top Three resolutions, in order, will be publicly presented to, and acknowledged by, both houses of Congress, and the President of the United States accordingly.”

It is illogical to face the present only as an object of enjoyment or tolerance, and neglect to use it as an opportunity to create the future.

America has witnessed urgency before. Simply lend an ear to a passing generation. Yet our culture is one that discards its elderly. This is not wise! All minds are important, regardless of age or disability, unique and monolithic, in Good Energy and Direction.

We must each participate and cooperate toward resolution before our country has the right to call itself “United.”

Any voting-age citizen or group of voting-age citizens who contribute toward pending Bills or Resolutions sitting before both houses Congress, will be entitled to proportionate financial reward and public acknowledgement, if the citizen(s) so choose(s).

Subsequently, a formal Public Forum must be established to provide a secure and convenient method for all voting-age citizens to:

1. Contribute one confidential vote per bill or resolution sitting before a house of Congress.
2. Receive one week per resolution to review pertinent information before casting their vote.
3. Have the equal right to submit one personal or group resolution to Public Forum, subject to public scrutiny and competition, and ultimately championed upon by popular vote.
4. The Top Three resolutions of any category, in popular order, will be publicly acknowledged by both houses of Congress, and publicly presented to President of the United States.
